Ready to turn financial insight into meaningful business impact? In this senior individual-contributor role, you'll lead Business Planning & Analysis activities across Digital, Data and IT Finance, partnering with senior leaders to shape decisions, strengthen financial performance and translate complex data into clear, actionable insights. You'll bring a CFO mindset, taking end-to-end ownership of planning, forecasting and performance management while navigating complexity, influencing across functions and developing proposals and solutions with limited direction.

About the Role

Key Responsibilities

- Lead Business Planning and Analysis activities, providing high-quality financial insights and decision support to business leaders.
- Drive consistent implementation of financial planning processes, strategies and policies across the organisation.
- Deliver timely management reporting, forecasts and financial analysis to support informed business decisions.
- Lead detailed budgeting and forecasting to support global, regional and business planning.
- Develop early-warning financial tracking to identify emerging risks, opportunities and performance trends.
- Analyse expenses, cash flow, investments and project costs to identify opportunities to improve performance.
- Partner with leadership on financial, cost and risk analysis, translating insights into corrective actions.
- Deliver profitability, resource allocation and benchmarking analysis to shape short- and long-term priorities.
- Provide transversal leadership across BPA workstreams, aligning stakeholders and driving outcomes through influence rather than formal people management.

Essential Requirements

- Significant experience in Business Planning and Analysis, financial planning or a closely related finance discipline.
- Strong expertise in budgeting, forecasting, management reporting and financial performance analysis.
- Proven ability to translate complex financial information into clear insights and recommendations for senior leaders.
- Strong business partnering and senior stakeholder-management skills, with the confidence to challenge constructively, influence decisions and operate with a CFO mindset.
- Demonstrated experience analysing financial risks, opportunities, costs, profitability and business performance.
- Proven transversal leadership, with the ability to align senior stakeholders, influence across functions and lead complex work without formal line-management responsibility.
- Strong analytical, communication and problem-solving capabilities, combined with accountability, ownership, curiosity and a proactive, solution-oriented approach.
- Ability to operate with agility across regional or global environments, navigate ambiguity and complexity, and deliver outcomes with limited direction while driving consistent financial processes and standards.
